MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Dear University of Houston-Downtown Graduates,

Today's graduation marks the start of a bright new beginning. As a college graduate, you have achieved something truly remarkable, and as chancellor of the University of Houston System, it is my honor to congratulate you on this tremendous milestone.

As you reflect on this moment, take pride in knowing it was your hard work, intellect, perseverance, and belief in yourself that got you here. Equally important was the unwavering support of those around you. These values and connections have shaped who you are today and will propel you forward in your professional journey.

As you move ahead, remember the power of paying it forward. Be a mentor to someone else who dreams of achieving what you have. And remember to express gratitude to your professors, advisors, family, and friends who supported you along the way.

The first-class education you've received at UHD has provided you with the tools to thrive. You now join the ranks of UHD alumni who have gone on to remarkable success in their fields — whether as business leaders, scientists, teachers, health or criminal justice professionals. I have no doubt that you will also find your path to success and reach your full potential.

Congratulations, Gators! The world is yours.

With warm regards,

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Graduate,

Today marks a special milestone in your life, one that required equal measures of dedication and determination. Your years here at the University of Houston-Downtown have equipped you with the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to lead well, and I have no doubt that you will indeed lead with excellence. Your resilience, heart of service, and talent will bring you to destinations once unimagined. As president of UHD, I commend you on the time and effort you have invested to complete your degree.

Now that you are a graduate of the University of Houston-Downtown, you have a new extended family of more than 71,000 UHD alumni, including leaders across industries, impactful public servants, and accomplished entrepreneurs. Connecting with this powerful network strengthens your career mobility while helping your UHD family to track your journey and celebrate your progress. Moreover, you will find an everlasting bond with fellow alumni—those who graduated with you, as well as those who completed years prior and who will follow in your footsteps.

As we celebrate you today, I encourage you to also recognize the friends and family members who encouraged you throughout this challenging journey. They, too, have played a role in your success, and their support will guide you in every challenge ahead. As you go forward, remember to lift others as you have been lifted. Your circle of influence is now larger than ever.

Once again, I commend and congratulate each of you, and I wish you the absolute best in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

History of the University of Houston-Downtown

In 1974, the University of Houston acquired the assets of South Texas Junior College and opened the University of Houston-Downtown College (UHDC) at One Main Street as a four-year institution. By the end of the 1970s, the Texas Legislature approved UHDC as a distinct university in the University of Houston System.

UHDC focused on meeting the needs of Houston's diverse and dynamic workforce. The first four-year degree was a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice, and resident students paid $4 per credit hour. By the early 1980s, it was clear that UHDC was more than a college. It was officially renamed as the University of Houston-Downtown (UHD).

In the 1990s, UHD was the state's third-fastest-growing university and focused on becoming a premier, metropolitan university, appealing to traditional and nontraditional students as well as working professionals. Campus growth continued with the opening of the Academic Building and the Jesse H. Jones Student Life Center.

UHD then earned full approval from the Texas Legislature and the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to offer graduate programs, beginning with a Master of Science degree in Criminal Justice. The University also expanded its partnerships with Lone Star College (LSC) to offer select degrees and courses at UHD-Northwest, housed in the LSC-University Center, LSC-CyFair, and LSC-Kingwood to create pathways for more transfer students to earn UHD degrees.

In the late 1990s, the Commerce Street Building opened as the new home for the College of Public Service, followed by the Shea Street Building opening as the home for the College of Business in the early 2000s. In 2012, UHD celebrated another milestone as it enrolled the first class of MBA students in the College of Business.

In 2016, a 26,000-square-foot Welcome Center opened its doors, and the O'Kane Gallery landed a new home featuring exhibitions for student, faculty, local, and national artists.

In 2017, a historic $10 million endowment was received from native Houstonian Marilyn Davies to support the College of Business' growing programs, including one of the largest MBA programs in the region. In recognition of the gift, the College is now the Marilyn Davies College of Business.

UHD then expanded its campus footprint—thanks to the addition of more than 17 acres—with the award-winning, state-of-the-art College of Sciences and Technology Building in 2020. Dedicated to the health and wellness of the campus community, the new Wellness and Success Center (WSC) opened its doors in January 2023. The WSC features an indoor running track, customized bouldering wall, a large multipurpose space with demonstration kitchen capabilities, and study/meeting spaces.

Today, UHD is the second-largest university in the city, offers bachelor's degrees in 45 areas of study and 12 master's programs, and boasts more than 71,000 alumni.

Symbols

The Seal

The University of Houston-Downtown's official seal reflects the history of the community. It is an adaptation of the coat of arms of the family of Sam Houston, the hero of San Jacinto. The Houston coat of arms is centered by a shield that dates back to the 11th century when William the Conqueror invaded England.

The Procession

Bearing the official mace of the University, the Grand Marshal leads the procession of candidates for graduation, along with the Associate Marshal, bearing the banner of the university. The faculty follow the candidates, accompanied by Assistant Marshals. The official platform party then takes its place, including the Board of Regents and the Chancellor of the University of Houston System or a designee, the President of UHD, and other officers and friends of the university.

The Mace

The ceremonial mace, derived from medieval weapons, acquired academic significance when Queen Elizabeth I presented a replica of her own royal mace to the University of Oxford in 1589. King Charles I made a similar gift to Cambridge University in 1625.

The University of Houston-Downtown's mace is a ceremonial symbol of the Office of the President that represents strength and scholastic integrity and is carried by a distinguished member of the faculty. Protocol requires the use of the mace in the processional and recessional of major academic ceremonies.

The University of Houston-Downtown's mace is 5.6-feet long with a tapered shaft constructed in walnut. Four, three-inch University seals cast in antiqued bronze are affixed on each side of a rounded square atop the mace, which features a brass finial depicting a round flame. Along the mace's shaft, five bronze plates feature the words: Excellence, Student Success, Inclusiveness, Respect, Integrity.

Academic Dress

The attire worn in the academic procession reflects symbolism dating back to the 12th and 13th centuries. Medieval scholars resembled the clergy of the era in dress and in some practices, such as taking vows and shaving heads. Standard costumes in academic settings included hoods and long gowns, perhaps worn for warmth in drafty buildings.

Academic institutions in the United States in 1895 first adopted a code of academic dress, which has been revisited at various times by the American Council of Education, the major coordinating body for the nation's higher education institutions.

While most universities and colleges adhere to the basic elements of the academic costume code, the guidelines can be adapted for individual institutions. At UHD, for example, bachelor's candidates do not wear hoods. A black mortarboard is worn with a tassel hanging over the right front quadrant of the cap. Traditionally, the tassel is shifted to the left after degrees are conferred.

The gowns worn by master's candidates have a slightly different style than those worn by undergraduates. All master's graduates receive a hood from a representative of their college or academic department. The colors in the satin lining of these hoods traditionally represent the colors of the university. For UHD, the colors are dark blue and red.

The honors cords draped across the shoulders of a gown indicate academic honors. Graduation with the highest distinction—a grade point average (GPA) of 3.80 or higher—is Summa Cum Laude and is represented by combined red and white cords. Red cords indicate graduation with great distinction—a GPA of 3.6–3.79—or Magna Cum Laude. White cords indicate Cum Laude honors or graduation with distinction—a GPA of 3.4–3.59.

Academic dress for faculty is distinctive. The doctor's gown is trimmed in velvet, and hoods are worn with colors that hold significance. The hood lining is in the colors of the college or university conferring the degree, and the color of the binding indicates the degree subject.

GUEST SPEAKER

Vanessa E. Wyche

Acting Associate Administrator, NASA

Vanessa E. Wyche is the acting associate administrator of NASA. She is the senior advisor to NASA acting administrator Janet Petro. In her role, Wyche leads the agency's 10 center directors as well as the mission directorate associate administrators at NASA Headquarters in Washington. She acts as the agency's chief operating officer for more than 18,000 employees and an annual budget of more than $25 billion.

Previously, Wyche was the director of NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston, home to America's astronaut corps, Mission Control Center, International Space Station, Orion, and Gateway programs, and its more than 11,000 civil service and contractor employees. Her responsibilities included a broad range of human spaceflight activities, including development and operation of human spacecraft and NASA astronaut selection and training.

Wyche also oversaw NASA Johnson's activities supporting the commercialization of low Earth orbit, supporting the agency's needs following the transition from the International Space Station in 2030, and led the center's programs supporting the exploration of the Moon and Mars, including surface system capabilities for human and commercial robotic missions, as well as simulated missions for crews on Mars.

During her 35-year career, Wyche has held several other leadership roles including Johnson's deputy center director, director of Exploration Integration and Science Directorate, flight manager of several Space Shuttle Program missions, and executive officer in the Office of the Administrator, as well as additional center-level technical and program organizations.

A native of South Carolina, Wyche earned a Bachelor of Science in Engineering and Master of Science in Bioengineering from Clemson University and was inducted into the Thomas Green Clemson Academy of Engineers and Scientists in 2019. She received an honorary Doctor of Science degree from Coastal Carolina University in 2022 as well as an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Texas Southern University in 2024.

Wyche is a member of the National Academy of Engineering. She has numerous awards and recognitions, notably the Presidential Rank Award, two NASA Outstanding Leadership Medals, and two NASA Achievement Medals, and she is an AIAA Associate Fellow.

Wyche is a passionate promoter of science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) and serves as a member of American Institute of Physics Foundation board of trustees, Clemson University's College of Engineering, Computing, and Applied Sciences advisory board, and is a past chair of the Space Center Houston board of directors.

STUDENT SPEAKER

Antoinette Mosley

Bachelor of Business Administration, Accounting
Marilyn Davies College of Business

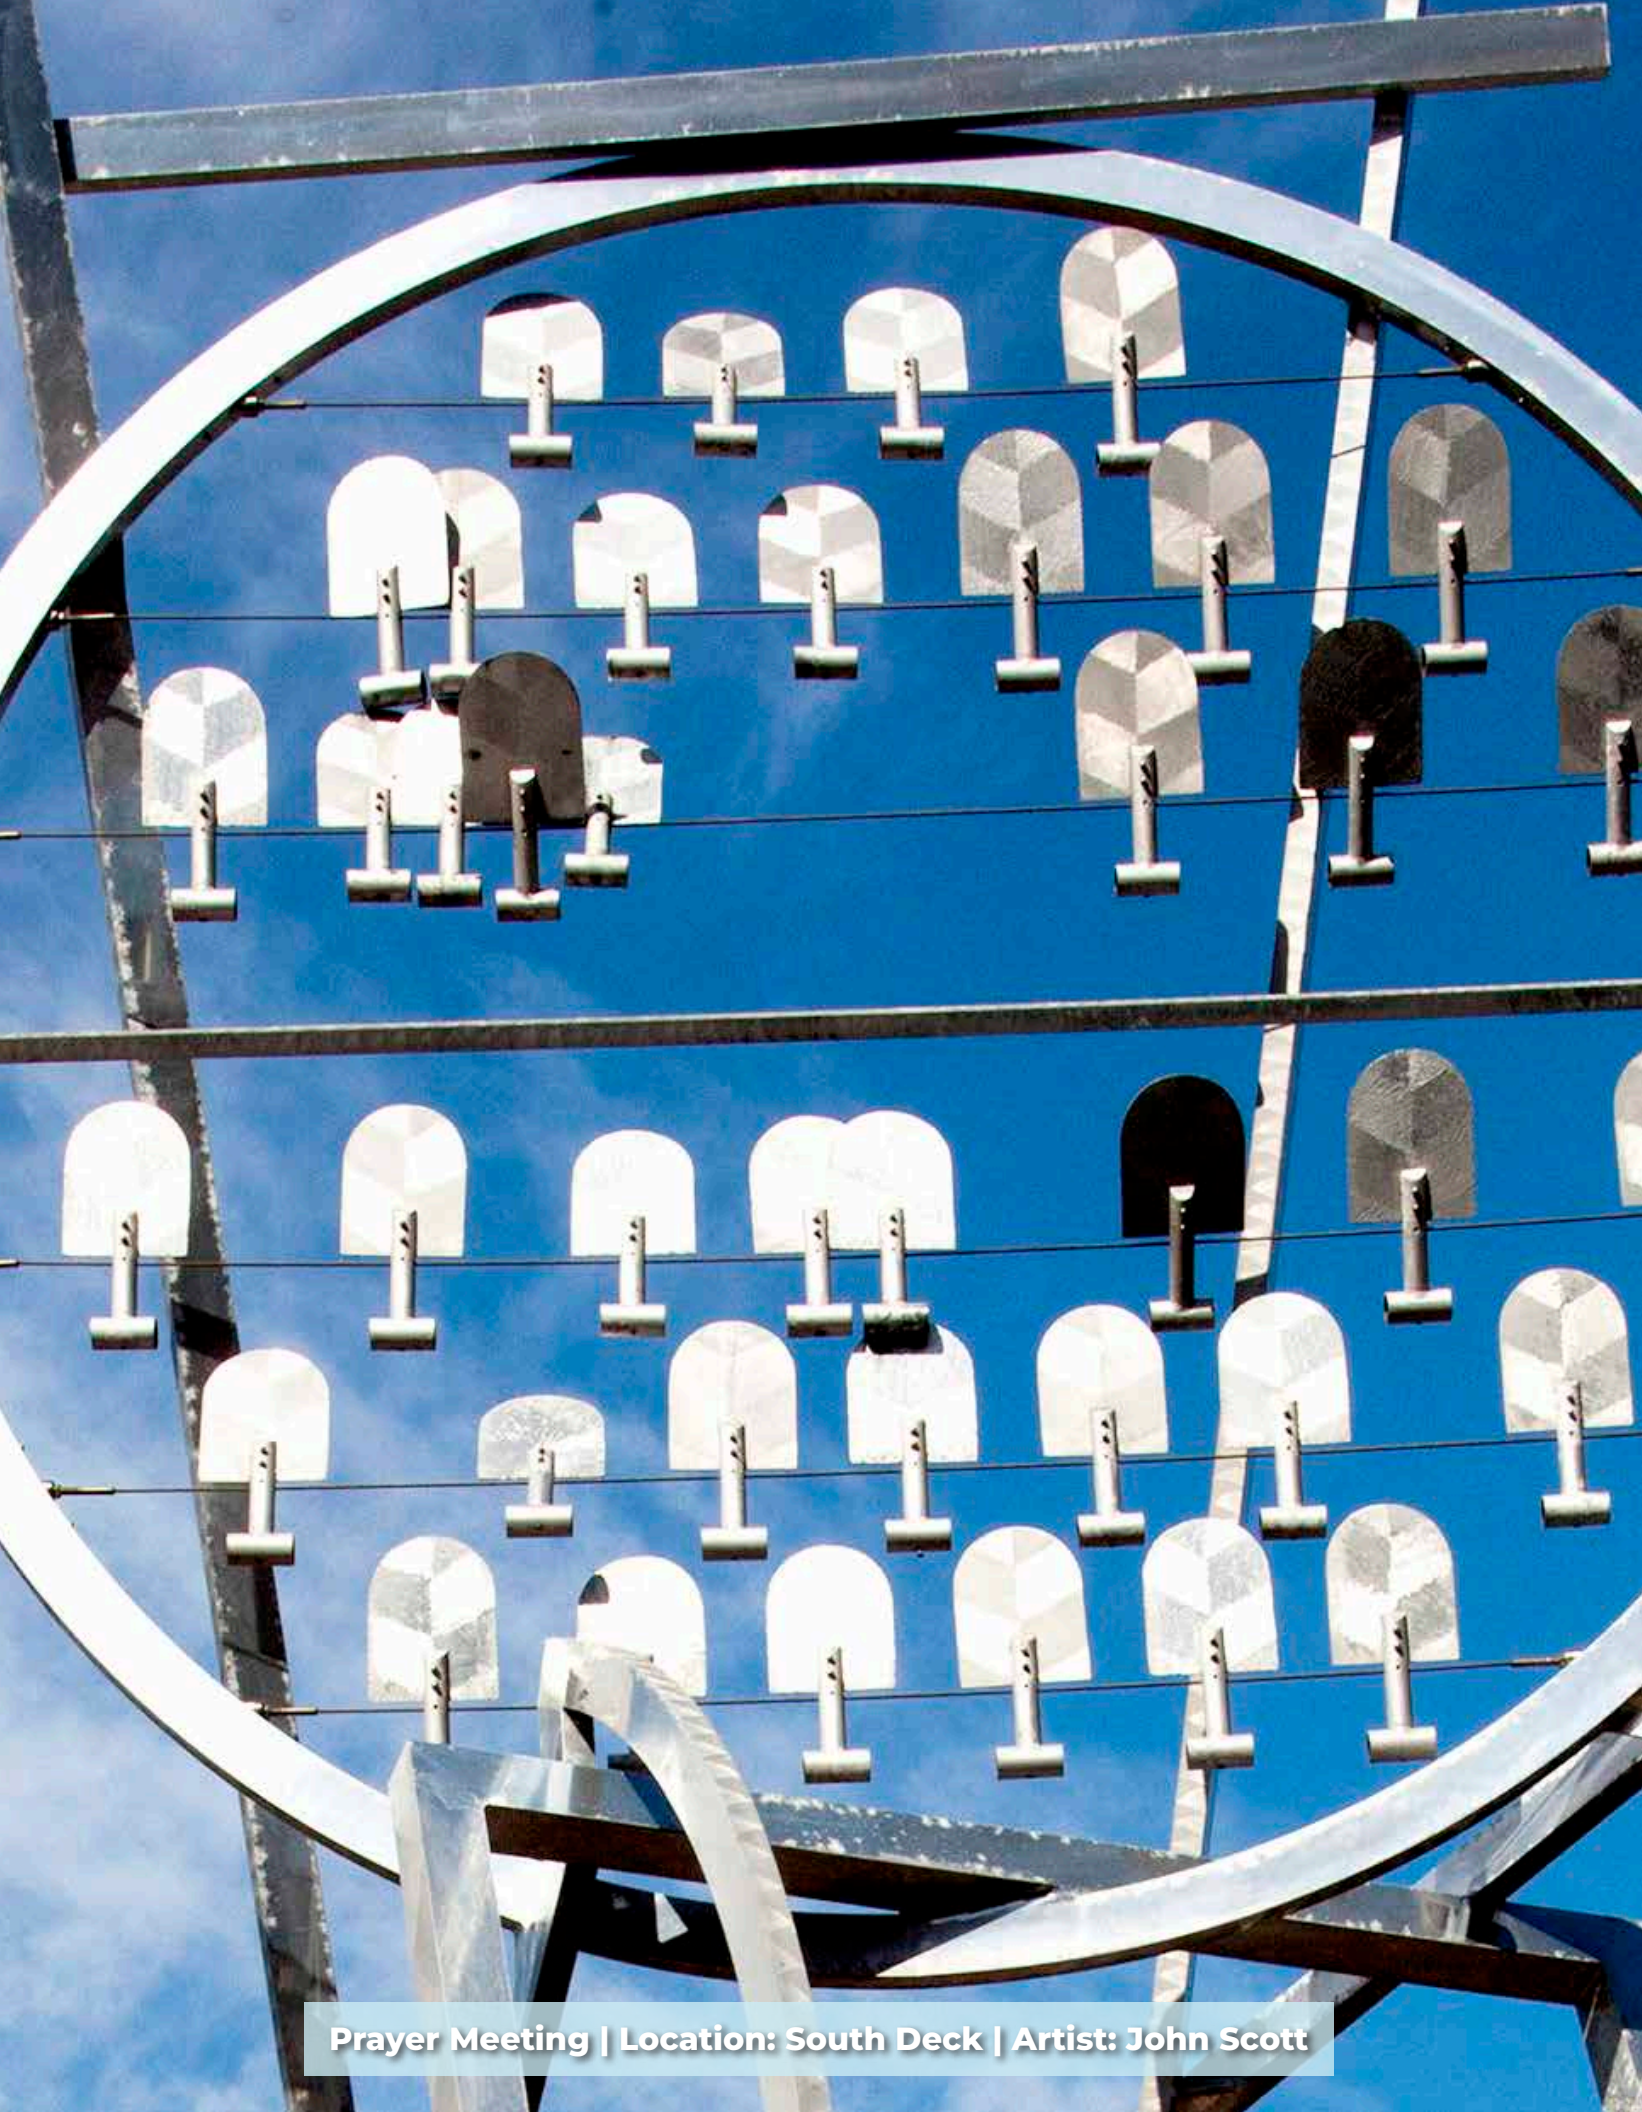

Antoinette Mosley, a Houston native of Bahamian heritage, walked a winding path to graduation, the completion of which is a testament to her resilience and determination. Starting college at 16, she navigated life's complexities before returning to complete her accounting degree after the pandemic.

During her time at UHD, she served in numerous roles in the National Association of Black Accountants (NABA), organizing events like office visits to prominent Houston accounting firms and a trip to the NABA convention in Las Vegas, fostering career connections and professional growth. She also earned many prestigious scholarships, including the Ted Bauer and Deloitte scholarships, while also making the Dean's List an impressive five times.

In addition to her academic dedication, Mosley is a dedicated mother to her 5-year-old daughter and is the youngest of three siblings. She enjoys going to the gym, sewing, art, and anime like "Hunter x Hunter." She previously held three internships and has secured a position at the global professional services firm Grant Thornton that she'll begin post-graduation. Of course, she's preparing for the CPA certification exam as well. Mosley credits her professional success to the foundational skills she learned at UHD, both in her accounting courses and from the career center.

Reflecting on her journey, Mosley feels gratitude for the support she received from faculty, friends, and family, as well as for the opportunities she's had to help other Gators reach their goals. And how does it feel now that she's graduating? "It feels surreal to have accomplished exactly what I set out to do."

Alma Mater

Standing proud along the bayou,
a Houston landmark true,
is our noble Alma Mater,
glorious to view.

Representing many cultures,
races, tongues, and creeds, confident we now go forth to serve our common needs.

Studies finished, now we're leaving new goals to pursue,
but our hearts to UH-Downtown
ever will be true.

Come, let's join and raise our voices,
praising UHD.
May our lives forever honor thy dear memory.
